

The client

David Archer Holdings Property Consultants
Plexus Law, London End User

The brief

Minimalist design of cellular offices across a large single floor, with maximum natural light, integrated shelving and fully relocatable partitioning. All to be completed during a specified three week period of an eight week programme.

The Invotek solution

Invotek Glasswall system incorporating frameless glass panels with full height frameless glass doors, satin stainless steel lever latch door furniture and company logos etched from film and applied to the glass. V jointed solid panels with full height maple veneer doors and a space efficient integrated shelving system with height adjustable shelves and a maximum shelving capacity of 4,192 75mm wide lever arch files!

The largest Meeting Room was fitted with 2 sliding and folding dividing walls that enable the room to be divided into 3 separate Meeting Rooms if required. Most components were pre-fabricated in Invotek's Factory for immediate installation on arrival at site. Installation time cut by 50% compared to conventional stud walling and completed in the allotted timeframe.

"We're more than delighted."

The new offices have exceeded all our expectations - as did the speed, standard and efficiency of the work."

Roy Taylor
Plexus Law

The result

Offices that truly reflect the stature and standing of a major legal practice, and fast, problem-free installation without compromising on quality.

"In my experience, only Invotek would have been able to provide the optimum design solution, work successfully within a very tight installation window and project manage the whole thing from beginning to end."

David Archer - F inst D..FFB, Director of David J Archer Holdings

invotek[®]
PARTITIONING SOLUTIONS